Make Your Own Seuss Recipes

As you experiment with foods, you can use the printable recipe cards on the next page to track what you've created. There's nothing worse than finding something great . . . only to realize you forgot to write down what you were doing!

This might include:

- Creating new foods
- Substituting ingredients to update an old recipe
- Replacing ingredients that cause allergic reactions
- Making existing recipes "healthier"
- Noting which food colorings / food combinations work best
- Decorating ideas for cakes and more
- Renaming foods you already enjoy

Cards are created by cutting the sheet in half twice – horizontally and vertically.

Enjoy your Seuss Eats!
